Galleano Winery 2003 Awards

After winning numerous awards earlier in the year at the prestigious “Jerry Mead’s New World International Wine Competition”, the Historic Galleano Winery was honored with more awards from the National Orange Show Pacific Rim Competition, the L. A. County Fair Wine Competition, the Orange County Fair Wine Competition and the Long Beach Grand Cru Wine Competition.

“This has been a banner year for us,” owner Don Galleano commented on the awards. “Five of the six winning wines were grown, produced and bottled by Galleano Winery from our old vine vineyards in the Cucamonga Valley. We believe that our wines are of the highest quality, and we are honored that the competition judges agree!”

Wines from around the world were entered in many of the competitions. In addition to the United States, wines came from Canada, Mexico, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Australia and New Zealand, to name just a few of the countries.
