"From one of the pioneering families of this endangered appellation in greater L.A., a true old-style California Port. Smells rich and inviting, with true port character, and drinks full, lush and rich in the mouth. Hard to exaggerate how delicious and fine this sweet wine is. Enjoy with your best chocolate dessert, or on its own." Editors' Choice.—S.H.

2003 Awards

After winning numerous awards earlier in the year at the prestigious "Jerry Mead's New World International Wine Competition", the Historic Galleano Winery was honored with more awards from the National Orange Show Pacific Rim Competition, The L.A. County Fair Wine Competition, the Orange County Fair Wine Competition, the Long Beach Grand Cru Wine Competition and the California State Fair Wine Competition.

"This had been a banner year for us," owner Don Galleano commented on the awards. "We believe that our wines are of the highest quality, and we are honored that the competition judges agree!"

Wines from around the world were entered in many of the competitions. In addition to the United States, wines came from Canada, Mexico, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Australia and New Zealand, to name just a few of the countries.

Historic Designation for the Winery

Galleano Winery Now listed on the National Register of Historic Places

Galleano Winery was honored in May of this year by being named to the National Register of Historic Places. This is the United States' official list of historic resources worthy of preservation. Placement on it includes the Winery in a significant group of special properties throughout the country.

"We are pleased and honored to be named to the National Register," said Don Galleano, owner of Galleano Winery. "We've always believed that, in addition to our fine wines, the winery offers an interesting historical experience for our customers. We are thrilled with this recognition and look forward to welcoming new visitors who also have an appreciation of places of historic value."

Together with the national designation, Galleano Winery will also be noted in the California Register of Historical Resources, an authoritative guide to significant resources within the state.
